About the conference musiclearninglive! conferences are for EVERYONE involved in music education and the richness and diversity of the programmes reflect that.

Whether you are a strategist or a practitioner, you will be challenged and inspired. The two-day programme includes topical keynotes and discussions alongside practical, hands-on workshops, live performances and case study presentations – combined with plenty of time to network and meet new colleagues

- 2012 marks the fifth musiclearninglive! conference and the first in London
- mll!2012 is the first national conference to follow publication of the National Plan for Music Education
